These classes provide a great framework for learning and practicing basic Spanish skills with your child, both in class and at home. Classes last 45 minutes, and are appropriate for children ages 6 weeks to 5 years. Children must be accompanied by a caregiver. Dress comfortably and come ready to rock!

Little Drummers, Big Voices Americana - Fall 2016

If your child has completed the parent-child curriculum, they may be ready for a class on their own! This Fall, we will be exploring the world of Americana Music, drawing from Andy Z's album "Classic Songs and Traditional Tunes." These 45-minute classes expose children to American folk instruments and basic music terminology through fun and developmentally appropriate activities. They will be encouraged to use and develop their singing voices and explore expression in music through instrument play and large motor movements. The curriculum is designed so that all learning styles are incorporated into the lesson plans. Books, videos, and arts and crafts enhance their understanding of each instrument. They will also begin to develop a musical vocabulary that can be used to describe any music they hear: presto or lento; piano or forte; a march or a waltz. This class can be taken as a preparation for or in support of private and group instrumental lessons. It offers children a complementary approach to focusing on one instrument alone.

Students must have reached their 3rd birthday by September 12, 2016.

Class fee: $272, 10 weeks. DISCOUNT for additional siblings (2nd child: $230, 3rd child: $115).

Price includes a CD and a songbook.

Musical Movement - Fall 2016

Is your child ready to attend a music class all by themselves? Do they love to move creatively? Musical Movement is a magical exploration of music using the body as the primary instrument. Children delight in using their imagination as they dance and move like soft raindrops or thunder along as a herd of elephants. In this 45-minute class, they explore spatial awareness and dramatics, develop gross motor skills and accurate rhythm, and express their own individuality all while relating to the overall dynamics of the music. This movement-based class is a great creative outlet for the young musician in your family!

Students must have reached their 3rd birthday by September 15, 2016.

Class fee: $230 for 10 weeks. DISCOUNT for additional siblings (2nd child: $188, 3rd child: $94).

The Armstrong Community Music School has a one-time $30 registration fee per family. This charge covers all of our programs and is valid for an entire household.
